Sister of Roy and Gerald Royston [qv]

Excerpt from The Moving Picture Boy entry on brother Roy:

"...A blithe boy star of British knockabout comedy. Roy Royston (born Roy Charles Crowden, though no relation to the admirable Graham Crowden of recent British comedies)... enjoyed two or three hectic years as the kid hero in the films of Lewis Fitzhamon, usually in partnership with his sister Marie.

Roy made his stage debut in December 1910, at the Haymarket Theatre, London, as Tytyl in a revival of Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird". From 1912, movies took priority for a while, but for the rest of his long career he kept the two strands in tandem...

Roy's younger brother Gerald Royston also appeared in a handful of films, including a 1914 version of "LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY"..."
