How Sweet it Was - Television: A Pictorial Commentary caption:

“Ingrid Bergman made her television acting debut on October 20, 1959, in James Costigan’s brilliantly eerie dramatisation of Henry James’s novella, directed by John Frankenheimer. "The Turn of the Screw" was part of the weekly "Ford Startime" series, which also brought Alec Guinness to American television that season in "The Wicked Scheme of Jebal Deeks".”
